

WORK OF WILSON LIKE JEFFERSON'S

Navy Secretary Speaks at Democratic Dinner in Ohio and Praises President.

TELLS OF TARIFF EFFECT

Expresses Faith in Trust Bill Now Before Congress—People's Interest is Uppermost.

Cleveland, Ohio, April 20.—The influence of Thomas Jefferson on the character and construction of present-day legislation and government was depicted Saturday by Josephus Daniels, secretary of the navy, before Cleveland democrats at the annual Jefferson dinner.

Eulogizing the spirit of democracy Mr. Daniels declared that the same unselfishness, devotion and liberality which characterized its administration in the days of Jefferson were vividly reflected in the leadership of President Wilson, the counsel of W. J. Bryan and the example of Tom Johnson, Cleveland's deceased mayor.

Discussing the effect of the new tariff law, the speaker said:

"Contrary to the predictions of the apostles of privilege, we are not flooded with 'pauper' goods from abroad. Our imports have grown greater. Responding to the opportunities of a broader and fertile field our produce has encountered this dreaded opponent, not behind the ramparts of a valorem and specific duties to a combined amount of 150 per cent or more but on the high seas of competition, its own ground.

"What is true of the tariff applies with equal force to the currency. The bill which the last congress enacted embodies the best thought of the nation on the subject. It rears no overshadowing central structure to regulate the fate of whole communities.

Has Faith in Trust Bill.

"In the accomplishment of these democratic and truly American pieces of legislation I would not withhold the credit deserved by those members of the congress who differ with us politically, yet in the liberality of their views have rendered us their hearty support.

"There are trust bills now pending. There is urgent need for a better system of rural credits. But with the senate for the first time in its existence directly responsible to the people and such a record of speedy achievement to its credit, I doubt that anyone will now question that the party of Jefferson, under the inspiration of Mr. Wilson, will respond promptly to the trust of deciding these issues and such others as may arise to the best interests of the people and in accordance with their will."

John H. Clarke, Ohio candidate for senator, presided at the dinner. Governor Cox and Champ Clark were among those who made speeches.

Secretary Daniels spoke at Western Reserve university earlier in the day. He told the students the country needed the "scholar in politics," urging them to enlist in the fight for clean politics and better government.

"Our statement," he added, "have stood too much in fear of the sneer: 'Those d-n literary fellows!' The idea of the schoolmaster in the senate or the house or the White house does not appeal to the boss, for education is the enemy of bossism."

Rheumatic Throat Is Common Trouble

Should Be Treated in Blood
To Prevent Recurrence.

There are successful gargles that stop soreness in the throat, but to prevent their recurrence, the blood must be put in order. The best remedy is S. S. S., as it influences all the functions of the body to neutralize the irritants or waste products and to stimulate their excretion through the proper channels.

Rheumatic sore throat is a dangerous indication, as it means that the blood is loaded with more uric acid than the kidneys can excrete, and may thus lead to serious general disturbance.

The action of S. S. S. stimulates cellular activity. It prevents the accumulation of irritants in local spots. It enables the arteries to supply quickly the new red blood to replace worn-out tissue.

For this reason uric acid that finds the throat an easy prey to its breaking-down influence, is scattered and eliminated. In other words, S. S. S. prevents chronic conditions by enabling all the mucous linings of the body to secrete healthy mucus. Its influence is shown in a marked improvement of the bronchial tubes, whereby the hoarseness of voice with thick, grayish expectoration is overcome. S. S. S. well diluted with water, means a blood bath, since it is welcome to any stomach and at once gets into the blood.

S. S. S. is free of all minerals and contains ingredients wonderfully conducive to well-balanced health.

You can get it at any drug store, but do not accept anything else. There is danger in substitutes. S. S. S. is prepared only by The Swift Specific Co., 528 Swift Bldg., Atlanta, Ga. Our Medical Dept. will give you free instruction by mail on any subject of blood disorders. Write today.

IS PICTURESQUE REBEL FIGURE

General Angeles talking to a reporter.

Juarez, Mexico, April 20.—One of the most picturesque figures brought into the spotlight by the Mexican revolution is General Angeles, who commands General Villa's artillery.

Angels, like Villa, has won all his military fame within the past few months. Before the recent battle of Torreon it occurred to General Angeles to call by telephone General Refugio Velasco, commander of the federal forces in that city. Angeles was the very soul of politeness as he conversed with the federal commander.

"Good afternoon, my general," was his greeting. Then after a few preliminary remarks he said: "With the object of evading a useless spilling of blood and to comply with what we believe is a duty of humanity, I ask for the city of Torreon."

Then followed an argument between Angeles and Velasco and another federal commander as to the advisability of the rebels laying down their arms. Finally the rebel artillery leader hung up the receiver. A few days later Velasco and his federalists fled, leaving Villa and Angeles to occupy Torreon.

Angels loves to pose for the "movies." Many of his movements during the past few months have been caught by the moving picture camera.

MEN DIRECTING POWERFUL NAVAL FORCES

Rear Admiral Fletcher (left), Admiral Badger, and American battleships leaving Hampton Roads.

Washington, Apr. 20.—It is generally believed that President Wilson had a further purpose in sending so large a fleet to Mexican waters than merely to compel Huerta to salute the flag. The force already at Tampico and Vera Cruz could have compelled the salute.

It is believed that Special Envoy

Land, on returning to Washington, advised the president that conditions in the Mexican capital, and in fact all parts of Mexico, were desperate to say the least, and that the lives and property of Americans and other foreigners in the southern republic were in imminent danger. With Rear Admiral Fletcher at Vera Cruz with a powerful force and with Admiral Badger and his fleet at Tampico the interests of foreigners will be much better safeguarded than has been the case heretofore. In case worse comes to worst, a big force of United States marines can land at Tampico or Vera Cruz and within a few days take possession of Mexico City.

LABOR TROUBLES FOR CANAL ZONE

Much Opposition Develops on Reductions in the Wage Scale of Skilled Workers.

Panama, April 20.—Much opposition to reductions in the wage scale of skilled labor on the canal has arisen since the new wage scale was promulgated in conformity with an executive order issued by President Wilson on Feb. 2, to become operative on April 1, when the government of the Panama canal went into effect.

The skilled workers have been in communication with the parent unions in the United States with the result that the metal trades department of the American Federation of Labor has instructed the unions on the isthmus to immediately begin the formation of a metal trades council in Panama. Several meetings already have been held at which strong opposition to any wage reduction was voiced.

Under the terms of the Adamson act establishing the permanent government of the Panama canal it is provided that no one on the canal force shall be paid more than 25 per cent in excess of the average wage for similar work paid in the United States. In conformity with this provision Colonel George W. Goethals, governor of the Panama canal, issued a circular establishing a new wage scale. This provided for considerable reductions all along the line.

It is understood here that Colonel Goethals personally favors the continuation of the present wage scale until the period of construction shall have been ended. If this is done the reductions will become effective gradually and not until after the construction of the canal has been fully completed.

The various labor unions represented on the isthmus, it is understood, have communicated or will communicate with their parent organizations with the view of obtaining strike sanction. It is not the immediate intention, according to labor leaders here, to make use of the strike weapon to force the continuation of the present scale, but only in an emergency of such a character as to make its use a necessity.

It is not anticipated that any opposition to the new wage scale will come from the numerous clerks and other unorganized employees on the canal force. As yet no active opposition has appeared among them, although it is said that many of them contemplate resigning and returning to the states and seeking other employment. This class of employee in any event will suffer considerable shrinkage through the gradual reduction in force made necessary by the completion of the construction work.

A serious problem also confronts the authorities of the canal zone and republic of Panama because of the increasing number of unemployed men.

Within the last year many thousands of unskilled canal workers have been thrown upon their own resources because there was no more work for them. In almost every case they have saved no money for a rainy day. The result has been an increasing amount of lawlessness running particularly into the line of petty burglaries.

For unskilled labor there is now absolutely no demand on the isthmus, the outlying provinces of the republic or the neighboring republics of Central and South America. The proposed government railway in the province of Chiriqui is expected to afford some relief, but the hope of its early start is not at all bright here.

There is little or no other construction work in progress. Public work, with the exception of the National exposition, practically is at a standstill. On the zone the roads are being constructed by the prisoners in the penitentiary. This also is the case in the Panama republic.

Both Panama City and Colon, the two most important cities in the Panama republic, are filled with idle negroes who are looked upon as more or less of a menace by the two police forces. The Panama authorities say that the problem is one for solution by the canal government.

The question of the unemployed Jamaican negro is simple. When he left his native shore to come to Panama to work on the canal he was compelled to deposit $6 for his return passage when his job here was done. Many of them, however, do not wish to return for the reason that they are now accustomed to larger wages than they have ever been able to earn in Jamaica. Besides, they say, the island is already overpopulated.

The question of higher wages and overpopulation also is true of the other West Indian islands. Then, too, there is at present little or no demand for this class of labor in any of the West Indies with the possible exception of Cuba and Porto Rico, according to information here.

It is anticipated that the entire question probably will have to be submitted to the governments of the various countries from which these laborers came.

Ancon cemetery forms part of the site for the permanent canal town of Balboa. It has been decided to exhume all the bodies buried there. Already more than 1,000 bodies have been removed, most of them being cremated. Others have been shipped to the states and again buried.

The cremation is progressing at the rate of 30 to 40 bodies a day. A total of 4,945 bodies have been disinterred and cremated.

The French government soon will build and own its legation building in Panama. A large tract of ground has been given to France by the Panama government.

It is near the University club on the sea wall and is regarded as one of the choicest locations in the city. It overlooks the bay toward the Pacific entrance of the canal and the several islands on which are the fortifications that protect the canal entrance.

Plans for the new structure have been prepared in Paris and are being brought to Panama by a supervising architect who will superintend the construction work.

DAVENPORT

In District Court—An amendment to the petition of suit for $10,000 damages brought by Cornelius Lane against the Rock Island Brewing company, was filed in the office of County Clerk Harry J. McFarland, through the plaintiff's attorneys, W. M. Chamberlin, Ely & Bush and M. V. Gannon. The suit is a result of the death of Mrs. Lena Lane, wife of the plaintiff, caused by being run down at Second and Warren streets, Jan. 21, 1913, by a Rock Island Brewing company delivery auto truck. The will of Louis Bennenwitz, deceased mayor of Walcott, was filed for probate through Attorney Henry Vollmer. To the widow, Mary Bennenwitz, is left the entire estate and she is appointed sole executrix. Settlement for $500 in favor of the plaintiff in the case of Hugo C. LOUDERBACK HAD HEART ROMANCE

Creole, Twice a Widow, to Share Million Dollar Estate of Chicagoan.

REJECTS OFFER TO WED

Poison Victim Loved Woman Whose Husbands Met Same End She Suffered.

Chicago, Ill., April 20.—An untold romance, which is believed to have hastened the death of Delancy Horton Louderback, was revealed when his will was filed for probate.

Mrs. Minnie Wallace Walkup Ketcham, a striking creole who twice has been a widow, is named in Louderback's will as one of the principal beneficiaries.

She is to receive a life interest in one-fourth of the estate, which was reported recently to be $4,000,000, but is declared by the attorney for the estate to be about $1,000,000.

In the will Mrs. Ketcham has been described by Mr. Louderback as "my friend."

Among his close friends Mrs. Ketcham was known as a woman whom Mr. Louderback had befriended and whom he importuned to marry him after his wife's death.

Refused to Leave London.

His disappointment because she refused to come to Chicago from London to become mistress of his Ravenswood mansion is said to have brought on the despondency that hastened his end.

Mrs. Ketcham first gained notoriety when her first husband, who was Mayor of Emporia, Kan., died suddenly of poisoning. She was only 16 years old at that time and he was 60. She obtained the widow's share of his property without contest.

Then she was married to John B. Ketcham, millionaire club member of Chicago. It was not long until he also died. He had been poisoned.

Mrs. Ketcham appeared to claim his estate. A coroner's investigation was made, but no charge was brought against her. She won her fight for the widow's dower.

Mr. Louderback died suddenly of poisoning in his home April 3. It was brought out that he took an overdose of medicine during an attack of insomnia.

An equal sharer in the estate, Clara J. Boehnken of St. Louis, sister of Mr. Louderback, is named. She is to receive a life interest in one-fourth of the estate, which is to be divided between her two daughters, Olga and Susie, upon her death.

Three nieces, Marjorie and Susan H. Baun and Marie Hopkins, all of Philadelphia, are to get equal parts of one-fourth of the estate.

A half-sister, Sarah E. Ritter, is to get a life interest in one-fourth of the estate. Hilda M. Brand, a nurse who attended the late Mrs. Louderback, is given $500 and Bertha A. Schneider is given $5,000.

Davenport had been completed. The newly graded strip of the Davenport Blue Grass road now makes one of the best short runs in the county.

Sells 10-Acre Tract—C. S. Simpson, 602 East Fifteenth street, has disposed of a 10-acre tract of land east of Camp McClellan to F. Denkmann of the Middle road, who purchased it for investment purposes. The price per acre, was slightly below $900. The property has now been leased to J. R. Rogers of Silva.

Littig Bros. Get Contract—A government contract for 23 miles of levee improvement work between Oakville and Burlington, Ia., has been awarded to Littig Brothers of Davenport. There were 12 bidders for the contract, representing various parts of the country.

Child Thrown to Pavement—Minnie Raphael, 11 years old daughter of Emil Raphael, 708 Ripley street, was thrown from her bicycle near Second and Main streets when a horse and buggy cut in front of her. She was slightly bruised. The little girl was picked up and carried into a store, and later sent to her home.

Obituary Record—A beautiful young life took its flight when Miss Mauget passed away at the home of her mother, Mrs. Mary Mauget, 1928 Harrison street. Miss Mauget is well known in Davenport, having sung in the choir of Holy Family church for many years, only giving up her place when she was obliged to do so by illness. Miss Mauget was 23 years old. She was born in Davenport on Aug. 13, 1885, and has always resided in this city. She leaves to mourn her death her mother, Mrs. Mary Mauget, and six brothers, Francis, Julius, James, Oscar, Louis and Raymond, all of whom live in Davenport.

Death claimed Robert Ackermann at his home, 519 Rose Lane. Mr. Ackermann was 44 years old. He came to Davenport from St. Albans, Vt., where he was born on June 3, 1869. Mr. Ackermann was employed by the Tri-City Railway company until he was obliged to resign because of ill health. Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Mary Ackermann, two sons, Leonard and Leslie Ackermann, of Davenport, two sisters, Mrs. Bert Getty and Mrs. J. B. Searles and a brother, William Ackermann, all of whom reside in St. Albans, Vt.

Alfred Emil Ohland, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Emil Ohland, passed away at the home of his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Claus Ohland, 508 1/2 Brady street. The child was one year of age.
